“I am very passionate about what I do and want my clients to know that I put my heart into my job. I collaborate with my clients to understand their goals and to create the best strategy to accomplish those goals.”

About Lindsey

Lindsey's practice is focused on the area of family law including divorce, custody and visitation, child support, spousal support and alimony, prenuptial and separation agreements, and adoption. Lindsey is dedicated to clients and she treats each and every case as if it is her only case. She will make her best effort to settle cases when possible, as she often finds that this is in the best interest for her clients. However, if litigation is required, she will work tirelessly in preparation for court.

In addition to her family law work, Lindsey also assists in estate and trust planning and trust administration cases. She prides herself in designing a plan that is best suited for the individual's needs and goals.

Interesting fact: Lindsey enjoys reading non-fiction, skiing, playing tennis, and spending time with her nephews.
