“I became an attorney to help people. Growing up with an older brother who had a disability, I learned early in life the importance of advocacy; more importantly I learned how to be a zealous advocate for my clients.”

About Tyler

Tenacious, passionate and thoughtful are all words that can be used to describe this Maryland native. Tyler became an attorney to advocate for her clients through listening, preparing and executing solution-driven results. Client satisfaction is a main priority and Tyler ensures that her clients receive services that provide an effective, efficient and suitable resolution to their problems.

Tyler’s practice areas include Litigation, with a focus on business and real estate disputes, title insurance defense and personal injury. Using McNamee Hosea’s collaborative approach, Tyler is dedicated to providing superior legal representation and a positive experience while developing lasting relationships between herself and her clients.

The best piece of advice she ever received was from her parents, “Stay true to who you are and what you believe in.”

Fun Fact: Tyler was a Division I Basketball Player
