“I use my knowledge, experience and resources to help people navigate problems they may not understand. I take pride in listening to my clients’ goals and use my analytical skills and research to practically resolve their business issues.”

About Alex

Analytical and hardworking, Alex describes himself as an attorney that can effectively assist his clients in understanding the details of transactions that may otherwise be overlooked. With experience in both commercial real estate transaction and business law, Alex brings knowledge and intuition to the firm and is able to assist local business owners reach their goals. Alex has previously worked as a Judicial Law Clerk at the District Court of Maryland in Anne Arundel County. Growing up in the Annapolis area has helped him to forge avid relationships and connections in the professional community.

Outside of the office, Alex teaches wrestling at a local MMA gym and also takes Jiu-Jitsu. Alex was a Division I wrestler at the University of Nebraska.

Alex says that the best piece of advice that he ever received was to “get as much education as you can.”
